Tom Thomson and the Group of Seven continued their dominance of prices in the Canadian Auction Market during Joyner Waddington's Spring Auction of Important Canadian Art.

View From A Height, Algonquin Park, 1916 (Lot 50A), an 8 x 10 ins oil sketch by Tom Thomson sold for $1,207,500 on Tuesday evening (all prices include buyer's premium). The price was the third highest ever recorded for the iconic painter who died under mysterious circumstances in 1917.

The cover-piece for the Spring Auction, Leaves and Flowers by Group of Seven member J.E.H. MacDonald (Lot 25) generated spirited bidding in the auction gallery, finally being hammered down at $126,500, more than twice its high-end auction estimate of $30,000-50,000.

Other members of the much-celebrated Group of Seven generated strong prices during the first session of the two-day sale. A.Y. Jackson's Quebec Village, Winter (Lot 36) presented a scene perfect for a Christmas card and received strong attention from potential buyers on Tuesday evening. The oil sketch, painted circa 1925 (a prime period of the Group's artistic collaboration), sold for $138,000, more than four times the top-end of the auction estimate of $30,000-40,000.

We wish to extend our thanks to our consignors and bidders who participated in our Spring Auction.
